

NEW MARKET FOR PIANOS IN CEYLON

With Talking Machines They Are Finding Sale There, Says
Consul Moser.

NEW YORK, April 12.—American goods find strange markets, and now pianos from this country have just been introduced into Ceylon. They are specially made to withstand a tropical climate, and because of excellence of tone, good workmanship, and prices noted they have, according to Charles Moser, consul at Colombo, created a favorable impression. He believes that if the agency for American pianos could be placed in the hands of some independent and energetic dealer who could agree to sell only pianos of American manufacture a profitable business might result. The difficulty would be to find such an agent.

At present the whole piano business of the island is practically in the hands of one firm, an old established English house which has sold British and German pianos exclusively for many years past. It would be no easy task, Mr. Moser thinks, for a new firm to develop a successful competitor. It is, he is accomplished, however, by demonstration, energy, combined with attractive instruments, and low prices. Indeed, in this connection, he says that various lines of American manufactures have been introduced into Ceylon, have had a fair trial and have proved unable to compete with European goods. These three qualifications must be fulfilled, he says, to bring success to any goods entered in the market.

On the subject of pianos, Mr. Moser comments upon the success which is attending the efforts to place American talking machines on the Ceylon market. These instruments are rapidly taking first place in the better class of the island. All the principal American firms now have agents in Colombo and report sales in medium and high priced instruments. German manufacturers have by far the largest share of the cheaper native trade, and the agencies admit that the German sell a cheap machine at a price with which they cannot compete.

Speaking of the general situation in Ceylon, the consul says that American manufactured goods are making their way slowly but better position in Ceylon. It is a fact, however, that the island's import trade with the United States is seriously handicapped by the distance that American products have to be brought, by the heavy freight and the charges, especially by the method of ordering them. The London agents instead of direct, the uncertainty of arrival, and the inefficient methods of filling orders are the principal obstacles to the employment of some American export firms.

Tells How Champ Clark Got Job as a Teacher

STOCKTON, Cal., April 17.—How Champ Clark, away back in 1874, applied to him for a position as teacher in a small village school and it was told him today by W. N. Rutherford, at that time Rutherford was superintendent of schools of Randolph, Miss., and Clark was a teacher.

"One winter afternoon in 1874," said Rutherford, "there was a timid knock at my office door. Opening the door, I beheld a well-dressed young man who had the unmistakable appearance of a teacher."

"I should like to know," the young man asked, "if you have any vacancy that I could fill. I have had some little experience as a teacher."

"What is your name?" I asked.

"Champ Clark, sir," was the immediate answer.

"I was so impressed with the businesslike manner and tone of the young man that I decided to give him a position immediately. I assigned him to a village school some distance from the county seat, and he made good in a hurry."

FIND BIG DIFFERENCE IN BREAD INGREDIENTS

Students of Nutrition Agree.
However, "It's Cheap at Any Price."

Conceding that "bread is cheap at any price," from the viewpoint of the student of nutrition, the Journal of the American Medical Association makes these comments in discussing what constitutes a loaf of it:

"The wide-spread propaganda for the purity of the food and drug products of this country has resulted in the necessary attempt to standardize all articles which enter into these categories. In the case of certain familiar materials like sugar and coffee this has not involved any formidable difficulties. The question as to what constitutes mince pie, on the other hand, has aroused storms of claims and counterclaims on behalf of the recipes of different regions and generations. Like numerous other illustrations which might be cited, this experience has served to call attention to the really great diversity of our food concoctions and the pardonable laxness in the use of current terms that appear in the American menu. One may well apply here the proverb: 'The customer is the king.'"

"It might be expected that so common an article of diet as bread would exhibit some uniformity of composition. For example, the chemist of the Connecticut agricultural experiment station reports that 100 loaves of bread representing 100 different brands of flour, produced in one Springfield (Mass.), and three New York bakeries, showed wide variations in the percentage of moisture. For example, the moisture content ranged from 37 to 40 per cent, so that in some instances the water content was as high as 10 per cent. These differences are largely due to the methods of the baker. In some cases only flour, yeast and salt are used, while in others milk, butter, lard and sugar enter into the composition, are employed. The variations in fat are also due to the fact that in the process of baking a part of the fat is destroyed. In some samples the amount of fat found is much lower than could have resulted from the use of any brand of flour.

"A comparison of the variations in a 5-cent loaf of bread is interesting in other directions also. The amount of dry matter per loaf in the Connecticut samples ranged from 7.5 to 12.7 ounces, the average weight of the loaf in nine cities ranged from 12.9 to 15.2 ounces. The cheapness of the 3 and 4 cent loaves indicated a real saving, as far as quantity is concerned, because the decrease in price was greater than the decrease in weight. As the price of a loaf of bread has remained stable at 5 cents, while the cost of the ingredients has increased, change in the real cost of the nutrients of bread must be sought in the changes of size or composition of the loaf."

Yale and Harvard Grads To Clash on Diamond

Chey Chase Club will be a mecca for Yale and Harvard graduates and their friends tomorrow afternoon. The first annual baseball game between teams chosen from the Yale and Harvard alumni associations of Washington is to be played at 3 o'clock.

There are several "not" of the diamond, of other days, among the old "grads" of the two universities now living in Washington, and they are expected to don glove and spike to battle for the honor of the diamond. Both teams have been practicing daily this week, trying to get their batting eyes.

Following the game, the members of the teams and other Yale and Harvard men will meet at an informal dinner at Chey Chase Club.

ITCHING ECZEMA IS CURED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Use like cold cream to subdue irritation and clear the skin.

Constant or intermittent irritation producing itching and red, angry Eczema patches on the skin is readily relieved with bold-sulphur cream. The moment it is applied the itching stops and the burning begins, says a noted dermatologist.

It effects such prompt relief, even in aggravated cases, that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For many years bold-sulphur cream has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destroying, irritant and inflammatory effects. It is not only a powerful antipruritic and antiseptic and nothing has ever been found to take its place in overcoming the irritating and itchy conditions of the skin. While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet in every instance it instantly stops the agonizing itching; subdues the irritation and heals the inflamed raw skin right up and it often years later after any Eczema eruption again appears.

Those troubled should get from any pharmacist an ounce of bold-sulphur cream and apply it directly upon the affected skin like you would any ordinary ointment. The relief is instantaneous and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome particularly when the Eczema is accompanied with itching.—ADVE.

Jilted Via Wireless, Count Leaps Into Sea

NEW YORK, April 17.—Mystery surrounds the disappearance at sea of Count Domenico Calcei, a young Italian, from the Italian liner Stambulla, which arrived yesterday from Naples and Genoa. Soon after the steamer left Gibraltar, Calcei received a radiogram from his sweetheart in Naples. The contents of the message made him despondent, fellow passengers saying he was jilted, and two days later he was missed.

The count left some hand baggage and $1,000 in money. This has been turned over to the Italian consul, who will make inquiries in Italy as to Calcei's identity.
